PREFACE

This collection of basic documents is designed to be used with the book International Law (4th edition 2009). Students should be encouraged to work directly with the original documents whenever possible and to develop their interpretive skills.

I have opted to give the full text of all the documents (with the exception of annexes) even though a good number of the articles in each document are not strictly necessary for the materials or problems in the book. I have chosen to reproduce the full text largely because I have found it very frustrating, when working with other document compilations that do not include the whole text, not to know what has been omitted without the trouble of going to another full-text source. Even if omitted articles are not pertinent to the materials or problems in a book, students need to be sure they are not germane.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I would like to acknowledge the superlative assistance I received from Joan Comer in performing the myriad of technical detail work necessary to make the first edition compilation of documents publishable and the patience and calm efficiency of Mishell Fortes who made all the changes and additions for the second and third editions. Rita Mercado, my research assistant, also provided invaluable help in checking all the texts of the treaties in the third edition. Mishell Fortes has, once again, made all the changes and additions to the fourth edition.
