Authors' Acknowledgments

This book would not have been possible without the assistance of certain exemplary individuals. We would like to thank Walter Infante, Cyril Filipinas, Marilyn Dalocanog, Miles Strebeck, Melinda Hapca, Ana Aleman, Alex Rangel, Patricia Gonzalez, and Christina Carr for their top-notch technical processing.

Special thanks go to Bob Conrow, Beth Hall, Keith Potter, and the staff at Carolina Academic Press for their outstanding support and assistance.

Introduction

This book is designed with both the classroom setting and the paralegal practicing immigration in mind. When paralegals are provided with the skills necessary to manage cases, attorneys are able to increase productivity and enhance the quality of representation.

Throughout this book, step-by-step instructions guide the paralegal through each major visa category, including sample forms and correspondence.

Immigration Law for Paralegals includes:

- 1. Interviewing techniques and caseload management
- 2. Temporary visas for investing, studying or employment
- 3. Family-based residency
- 4. Employment-based permanent residency
- 5. Political asylum
- 6. Citizenship
- 7. Appeal process
- 8. T and U visas for victims
- 9. Representation before DHS agencies

Now more than ever, the practitioners and their legal staff must be current regarding legal standards and procedures. Government officials such as senators, congressmen and even the President of the United States are constantly making proposals and/or introducing bills relating to immigration issues. The creation of the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) in response to the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001, represented the single largest reorganization within the federal government in 69 years. The now-defunct Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) has been divided into three departments under the DHS: U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Service (USCIS); Immigration and Custom Enforcement (ICE); and Customs and Border Protection (CBP).

One caveat: This book should be utilized by the paralegal while working under the supervision of an attorney. A paralegal who offers his/her services and who is not working under an attorney's guidance is engaged in the unlicensed practice of law and may be subject to sanctions and criminal penalties.
