International Women’s Rights, Equality, and Justice
Civil Procedure for All States
Benjamin V. Madison, III

Contracts
Michael Hunter Schwartz and Denise Riebe

Current Issues in Constitutional Litigation
Sarah E. Ricks, with contributions by Evelyn M. Tenenbaum

Employment Discrimination
Susan Grover, Sandra F. Sperino, and Jarod S. Gonzalez

International Women’s Rights, Equality, and Justice
Christine M. Venter

Sales
Edith R. Warkentine

The Lawyer’s Practice
Kris Franklin
International
Women’s Rights,
Equality, and Justice

A Context and Practice Casebook

Christine M. Venter
DIRECTOR OF THE LEGAL WRITING PROGRAM,
NOTRE DAME LAW SCHOOL

CAROLINA ACADEMIC PRESS
Durham, North Carolina
To Anré, Clea, William, Emma, Eli and Drew— with my love always
Contents

Series Editor’s Preface xxi

Preface and Acknowledgments xxiii

Introduction xxvii

Chapter 1 • A Brief History of the Origins of Women’s Rights

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Introduction</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I. The History of Human Rights</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A. Natural Law</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B. The Magna Carta (1215)</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C. The U.S. Declaration of Independence (1776)</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D. The Declaration of the Rights of Man (1789)</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>II. A History of Women’s Rights</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A. Declaration of the Rights of Woman and the Female Citizen (1791)</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Questions for Discussion</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B. Declaration of Sentiments—Seneca Falls (1848)</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C. The Seneca Declaration</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Questions for Discussion</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Chapter 2 • International Human Rights in the Modern Era—The Evolution of Women’s Rights

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Chapter Problem</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I. The History of Human Rights</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A. The Evolution of Human Rights Treaties</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B. The Four Freedoms (1941)</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>II. The United Nations (UN)</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A. The UN System</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1. The Charter Based System</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>a. The Role and Functions of the Security Council</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>b. The General Assembly</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>c. The Reporting and Complaint/Communication Procedure — The Human Rights Council</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>d. The Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR)</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>e. The Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC)</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>f. The International Court of Justice (ICJ)</td>
<td>23</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>g. Other Agencies</td>
<td>23</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. The Treaty System</td>
<td>23</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
CONTENTS

a. The Universal Declaration of Human Rights (1948) 23
b. The ICCPR (1966)
   i. State Reporting Procedure under the ICCPR 26
   ii. Enforceability — NGOs and Shadow Reports 27
   iii. The Individual Complaint Procedure under the Optional Protocol 27
   iv. The Emergency Procedure under Article 40 of the ICCPR 28
c. The International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights — ICESCR (1966) 28
d. The Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination — CERD 30
Questions for Discussion 31
e. The Convention for the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women — CEDAW (1979) 31
   i. History of CEDAW 31
   ii. CEDAW 33
   iii. The CEDAW Committee 40
   iv. CEDAW and Culture 41
   v. CEDAW and the United States — The United States
      Senate Sub-Committee on Human Rights’ Hearing on CEDAW 41
   vi. Opposition to CEDAW 43
   vii. CEDAW and Intersectionality 44
Questions for Discussion 45

Chapter 3 • Reservations, Understandings, and Declarations (RUDs) — Problems with Enforcement, and Post CEDAW Developments 47

Chapter Problem 47
I. CEDAW and Reservations 47
   A. Reservations, Understandings, and Declarations 48
      1. Declarations of Morocco 49
      2. Reservation Filed by the Bahamas 50
      3. Reservations, Understandings, and Declarations to CEDAW
         Proposed by the United States in 2002 50
   B. The International Court of Justice Advisory Opinion on the Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide 52
      Questions for Discussion 52
   C. The Response of States Parties to Reservations Filed by Other States Parties 53
      1. Austria 53
   D. The CEDAW Committee and Reservations 54

II. After CEDAW — Moving Forward 55
   A. The Nairobi Forward Looking Strategy 55
   B. The Beijing Conference — The Fourth World Conference on Women (1995) 57
      1. The Beijing Declaration 57
Chapter 6 • Ending Discrimination — Special Temporary Measures

1. CEDAW and Affirmative Action
   A. Special Measures in CERD
   B. Special Temporary Measures in CEDAW
   C. The CEDAW Committee's General Recommendations on Special Measures
   1. General Recommendation No. 5
   2. General Recommendation No. 25
   3. The Beijing Platform for Action and Special Temporary Measures
   4. Terminology
   Questions for Discussion

2. Affirmative Action in the United States
   A. Presidential Executive Orders
   B. The 1964 Civil Rights Act
   Questions for Discussion

3. Affirmative Action Directives in National Constitutions and Legislation
   A. The South African Constitution and Legislation
   B. The Indian Constitution
   C. The Canadian Constitution
   Questions for Discussion

4. Affirmative Action Jurisprudence in the European Court of Justice
   A. Kalanke v. Freie Hansestadt Bremen (European Court of Justice)
   B. Marchall v. Land Nordrhein-Westfalen (European Court of Justice)
   Questions for Discussion
C. Subsequent European Council Directives

V. Affirmative Action in Other Regional Organizations and Conventions
   A. The International Labor Organization (ILO) Employment and Occupation Convention No. 111
   B. African Provisions on Special Temporary Measures
      1. The Banjul Charter
      2. The Protocol to the African Charter on Human and Peoples Rights on the Rights of Women in Africa
      3. The SADC Protocol
   C. The Work of NGOs
   D. Special Temporary Measures under CEDAW in U.S. Cities

Chapter 7 • State Responsibility to Protect Women from Violence

Chapter Problem

I. Defining Domestic Violence
   A. CEDAW and Violence against Women
   B. Feminist Jurisprudence—The Public/Private Distinction
   C. CEDAW Committee General Recommendation No. 19
   D. General Recommendation No. 25
   E. Declaration on the Elimination of Violence against Women

II. Litigating Domestic Violence—The CEDAW Committee and Domestic Violence under the Optional Protocol
   A. A.T. v. Hungary
   B. Goekce v. Austria; Yildirim v. Austria
      (CEDAW Committee Communications 2005)
   Questions for Discussion

III. The Scope of the Problem—Violence against Women

IV. Addressing the Problem in Regional Systems—The Inter-American System
   A. Convention of Belém Do Pará
   Questions for Discussion
   B. Velasquez Rodriguez v. Honduras
   C. Maria da Penha Maia Fernandes v. Brazil
   Questions for Discussion

V. Domestic Violence in the United States
   A. DeShaney v. Winnebago County Dept. of Social Services
   B. Town of Castle Rock, Colo v. Gonzales
      1. Respondent Gonzales’ Brief on the Merits
      2. Amicus Brief of International Law Scholars and Women’s Civil Rights and Human Rights Organizations
      3. Gonzales v. USA (Inter-American Commission)
   Questions for Discussion

VI. The African Position on Violence against Women
   A. The African Protocol on Women’s Rights
   B. Constitutional Protection against Violence in the South African Constitution
VII. The Response to Domestic Violence by the European Court of Human Rights

A. Opuz v. Turkey

Questions for Discussion

Chapter 8 • Grave and Systematic Violations under Article 8 of the Optional Protocol — The CEDAW Committee’s Investigation of the Murders in Ciudad Juarez, Mexico

Chapter Problem

I. Article 8 of the Optional Protocol to CEDAW

A. The Femicides in Ciudad Juarez

B. The Report of the CEDAW Committee on the Femicides in Ciudad Juarez

II. Regional, International, and NGO Responses to the Situation in Ciudad Juarez

A. The Amnesty International Report — Intolerable Killings: 10 years of Abductions and Murders of Women in Ciudad Juárez and Chihuahua

Questions for Discussion

C. The Inter-American Court: The Cotton Field Case

Questions for Discussion

Chapter 9 • Trafficking — Modern Day Slavery

Chapter Problem

I. CEDAW on Trafficking and Prostitution

II. Early Forms of Trafficking and Sexual Slavery

A. The Comfort Women — Japan

III. International Attempts to Limit Trafficking

A. The CEDAW Committee’s Concluding Observations to China (2006)

Questions for Discussion

B. The Protocol to Prevent, Suppress and Punish Trafficking in Persons, Especially Women and Children

C. Efforts by the United States to Combat Trafficking — The Trafficking Victims Protection Act (TVPA)

D. The Trafficking in Persons Report (TIP)

E. Tier Rankings under TIP

Questions for Discussion

F. Trafficking and the Sex Trade

G. Legalizing Prostitution — Jordan and ano. v. The State (South African Constitutional Court)

H. Catherine MacKinnon on Prostitution

1. MacKinnon — Trafficking, Prostitution and Inequality

Questions for Discussion

I. The Second Optional Protocol on the Rights of the Child

J. Child Soldiers

Chapter 10 • Rape and Other Gender Based Crimes during Armed Conflict

Chapter Problem

I. CEDAW and Rape

A. General Recommendation No. 19

II. International Responses to Gender Based Violence during Armed Conflict

A. The Charter of the International Military Tribunal for the Far East (1946)

C. The Statute of the International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia (ICTY)

Questions for Discussion

D. Gender Based Crimes in the Former Yugoslavia

2. Rules of Procedure of the ICTY

E. Prosecuting Rape after the Rwandan Genocide — The International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda (ICTR)

1. The Akayesu Case in the ICTR

Questions for Discussion

F. Prosecuting Rape in the Former Yugoslavia

1. Prosecutor v. Furundzija — Defining the Actus Reus and Mens Rea of Rape

2. Prosecutor v. Kunarac — Rape as a Crime against Humanity

Questions for Discussion

III. Other Developments in the International Prosecution of Rape

A. The Convention against Torture (CAT)

B. The International Criminal Court (ICC) and the Rome Statute

C. UN Security Council Resolution 1820

D. Testimony of Dr. Kelly Dawn Askin before the U.S. Senate Judiciary Committee — Rape as a Weapon of War

Questions for Discussion

E. CEDAW Committee Rape Case — Vertido v. The Phillipines

Questions for Discussion

Chapter 11 • Cultural Practices and Women’s Rights

Chapter Problem

I. CEDAW and Cultural Practices

A. Female Genital Mutilation (FGM)

1. Statistics from the WHO

2. The CEDAW Committee’s General Recommendation 14 on FGM (1990)

3. The CEDAW Committee’s General Recommendation 24 on FGM (1999)

4. The Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action

6. General Assembly Resolution on Traditional or Customary Practices Affecting the Health of Women and Girls
CONTENTS

8. Other International Instruments Condemning FGM 261
9. The Convention against Torture (CAT) and FGM Questions for Discussion 261

II. Other Cultural Practices Harmful to Women 262
A. Dowry and Bride Burnings in India and Pakistan 262
1. Dowry Prohibition Act of 1961 (India) 262
2. Indian Penal Code 304(B) 263
B. Other Harmful Marriage-Related Practices 263
Questions for Discussion 265
C. The Report on the Situation Regarding the Elimination of Traditional Practices Affecting the Health of Women and the Girl Child 265
1. Son Preference 265
2. Harmful Marriage Practices 266
Questions for Discussion 267
D. Sati 267
1. The Commission of Sati Prevention Act 267
Questions for Discussion 268
E. The Treatment of Widows in India 268
1. India’s Unwanted 30 Million Widows 268
F. Witch Hunting — Report of the Special Rapporteur on Violence against Women 270
Questions for Discussion 271

Chapter 12 • Women’s Rights in Parallel Legal Systems — African Customary Law 273

Chapter Problem 273
I. CEDAW and Customary Law (Marriage) 273
II. Recognition of African Customary Law by Colonial Rulers 274
III. The Current Application of Customary Law 275
A. General Characteristics of African Customary Law 275
B. The South African Constitution — Recognition of Customary Law Subject to Guarantees of Equality in the Bill of Rights 277
C. The Zimbabwean Constitution — Subjugating Gender Equality to Customary Law 278
D. The Botswanan Constitution — Limited Constitutional Protection for Gender Equality with a Court that Affords Equal Protection 279
Questions for Discussion 279
E. Customary Law as a System of Personal Law Applied by the Courts 280
1. Marriage 280
   a. Brideprice (Lobolo) 280
      i. Constitutional Petition — Mifumu v. Attorney General (Uganda Constitutional Court) 281
Questions for Discussion 286
CONTENTS

2. Matrimonial Property 286
   a. Gumede v. President of the Republic of South Africa 287
      (South African Constitutional Court)
   Questions for Discussion 291
3. Polygamy 292
   a. Recognition of Customary Marriages Act 120 of 1998 292
      (South Africa)
   b. The CEDAW Committee and Polygamy —
      General Recommendation 21 of 1994 293
   Questions for Discussion 293
4. Inheritance 294
   Questions for Discussion 298
F. The Approach Taken by the African Union 302

Chapter 13 • Religious Practices and Women’s Rights 305
Chapter Problem 305
I. CEDAW and Religious Practices 305
II. The Islamic Requirement to Dress Modestly — Restrictions and Mandates 306
   A. Shari’a 306
III. International Human Rights Law on the Manifestation of Religion 307
   A. Article 9 of the European Convention on Human Rights 307
   B. Article 18 of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR) 307
   C. Article 15 of the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (ICESCR) 308
   D. Article 5 of CEDAW 308
   E. Article 3(3) of the Arab Charter 308
   Questions for Discussion 309
IV. The Headscarf Cases 309
   A. Leila Sahin v. Turkey — European Court of Human Rights (2005) 309
      Questions for Discussion 318
   B. Hudoyberganova v. Uzbekistan — UN Human Rights Committee 318
   C. Report of the Special Rapporteur on Religious Freedom 321
      Questions for Discussion 322
V. Current Efforts to Regulate Islamic Dress 322
   A. Human Rights Watch Report — Enforcing Islamic Dress Code in Chechnya through Attacks and Harassment of Women 322
   B. The French Burqa Ban 326
   C. Other European Countries 326
   D. The United States 326
      1. Freeman v. Florida DMV 327
VI. Shari’a as Personal Law in Marriage 327
   A. Polygamous Muslim Marriages 328
      1. Hassam v. Jacobs (Master of the High Court) and Min. for Justice and Constitutional Development (South African Constitutional Court) 329
VII. Shari’a Law in the U.S. 330
Chapter 14 • Obtaining Asylum on Gender Based Grounds

I. CEDAW and Nationality

II. International Human Rights Conventions Defining Refugees and Asylees

A. The 1951 UN Convention Relating to the Status of Refugees

C. Reservation Filed by the United States to the 1967 Protocol

D. The Convention against Torture (CAT)

E. The UNHCR

F. The Relationship and Agreement between the CEDAW Committee and UNHCR

G. Asylum and Gender

III. Asylum Law in the United States

A. The Immigration and Nationality Act

Questions for Discussion

B. Granting Asylum on the Basis of Forced Sterilization

C. The United States’ Gender Guidelines and Instructions to Asylum Officers

Questions for Discussion

D. Applying for Asylum in the U.S.

1. In Re Fauziya Kasinga (Board of Immigration Appeals 1996)

3. In re R.A. (Rodi Alvarado)

E. UNHCR Advisory Opinion on International Norms: Gender Related Persecution and Relevance to Membership of a Particular Social Group and Political Opinion

1. Brief for the DHS

2. Perdomo v. Holder (9th Circuit Court of Appeals, 2009)

Questions for Discussion

Chapter 15 • Women and Access to Resources — Land, Economic Resources, and Education

I. CEDAW and Access to Land and Resources

II. Documenting Inequality in Access to Resources

A. The Global Gender Gap — Introduction

B. Land Ownership in Africa

1. Summary of Comparison between Women’s Land Access in Matrilineal and Patrilineal Communities

2. Land Ownership among Patrilineal African Communities

Questions for Discussion

C. The Beijing Platform for Action
D. The Gender Asset Gap
   2. Gender and the Distribution of Wealth in Developing Countries — Carmen Diana Deere and Cheryl R. Doss (2006) 372

Questions for Discussion 373

E. Customary Law Practices that Result in Women Being Disinherited 373
   1. Bhe v. Magistrate Khayalitsha (South African Constitutional Court) 373
   2. Rono v. Rono (Kenya Court of Appeal) 376

Questions for Discussion 380

F. Access to Other Economic Resources 381
   1. 2009 World Survey on the Role of Women in Development — Women's Control over Economic Resources and Access to Financial Resources, Including Microfinance 381
   2. Report of the Special Rapporteur on the Right to Adequate Housing 382
   3. Resolution 2001/34 on Women's Equal Ownership of, Access to, and Control over, Land and the Equal Rights to Own Property and to Adequate Housing 383

G. Access to Education 384
   1. The Beijing Declaration 384
   2. Make It Right — Report on Ending the Crisis in Girls’ Education 386

H. Women and Microfinancing 387

I. Women's Empowerment Principles — Empowering Women in Business 388
   1. Leadership Promotes Gender Equality 388
   2. Equal Opportunity, Inclusion, and Nondiscrimination 388
   3. Health, Safety, and Freedom from Violence 389
   4. Education and Training 389
   5. Enterprise Development, Supply Chain, and Marketing Practices 389
   6. Community Leadership and Engagement 389
   7. Transparency, Measuring and Reporting 390

J. Calling Attention to the Special Needs of Vulnerable Women 390

Questions for Discussion 391

Chapter 16 • Women and Employment 393

Chapter Problem 393

I. CEDAW and Employment 393

II. International Conventions Guaranteeing Pay Equality 394
   A. International Labor (ILO) Convention Concerning Equal Remuneration for Men and Women Workers for Work of Equal Value (1951) 394
   B. Recommendation Concerning Equal Remuneration for Men and Women Workers for Work of Equal Value (1951) 395
C. ILO Convention No. 111 — Convention Concerning Discrimination in Respect of Employment and Occupation (1958) 397
D. CEDAW Committee General Recommendation No. 13 — Equal Remuneration for Work of Equal Value (1989) 398

III. Employment Discrimination and Pay Equality in Europe 399
A. European Parliament Resolution on Equal Pay for Work of Equal Value 399

IV. Employment Discrimination and Pay Equality in the United States 402
A. Title VII 402
B. Ledbetter v. Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. Inc. 404
Questions for Discussion 408
C. Congress’ Response to the Supreme Court’s Decision in Ledbetter 409
Question for Discussion 410

V. Discrimination in Sweden 410
A. The Discrimination Act (2008) 410
B. Swedish Government Statistics on Women in the Workforce 413

VI. European Cases on Equal Pay 414
A. De Frenne v. Sabena (European Court of Justice) 414
B. Hill and Stapleton v. The Revenue Commissioners and Department of Finance (European Court of Justice) 415
Questions for Discussion 416

VII. CEDAW and Sexual Harassment 417
A. CEDAW General Recommendation 19 417

VIII. Sexual Harassment in Sweden 417

IX. Sex Discrimination and Sexual Harassment in the United States 417
A. SEC. 2000e-2. [Section 703] of Title VII 417
B. Code of Federal Regulations — Sexual Harassment 418
Questions for Discussion 419

X. Protections for Maternity in International Law 420
A. Convention No. 183 Convention Concerning the Revision of the Maternity Protection Convention (2000) 420
B. CEDAW General Recommendation 24 422

XI. Protection for Maternity in Sweden 423

XII. Protection for Maternity Functions in the United States 424
A. The Pregnancy Discrimination Act 424
B. The Family Medical Leave Act — FMLA 425
C. Breastfeeding Mothers in the U.S. — The Patient Protection and Affordable Health Care Act 425
Questions for Discussion 426

Chapter 17 • Women in the Public and Political Arena 427
Chapter Problem 427
I. CEDAW and the Equality of Women in Public and Political Life 427
A. CEDAW Article 7 427
B. CEDAW General Recommendation No. 23 428
E. Reservations to the Beijing Declaration 453
F. Beijing + 10 United Nations Committee on the Status of Women—
   Speech by U.S. Ambassador Sauerbrey at the 49th Session of the Commission on the Status of Women (2005) 454
   Questions for Discussion 455
G. CEDAW and Abortion Rights 455
   1. The Treaty Itself 455
   2. Overview of Some of the Concluding Observations Made by the CEDAW Committee to Various Countries in Respect of Their Policies on Abortion 455
   3. The Helms’ Understanding on Abortion 456
   4. CEDAW Committee General Recommendation 24 (1999) 456
      Questions for Discussion 462
III. CEDAW Commission Cases on Reproductive Rights 462
   A. A.S. v. Hungary 462
      Questions for Discussion 466
   B. The Colombian Constitutional Court Abortion Case—
      In Re Abortion Law Challenge in Colombia 467
   C. A, B, & C v. Ireland (European Court of Human Rights) 473
      Questions for Discussion 478
IV. Maternal Mortality 478

Chapter 19 • Women’s Rights, Development, Capabilities, Justice, and Equality 481

Chapter Problem 481
I. CEDAW, “Potentialities,” and “Happiness” 481
II. Women’s Progress in Equality and Development 482
   A. Resolution Adopted by the General Assembly—United Nations
      Millennium Declaration 482
   B. The Millennium Development Goals 485
   C. The Gender Inequality Index 486
   D. UN Women Report 2011–2012: In Pursuit of Justice—Progress of the World’s Women 487
III. Progress in Domestic Jurisdictions 487
   B. The Beijing Declaration—Article 12 490
IV. Beyond Non Discrimination—Human Flourishing for Women? 490
   A. Philosophies of Human Needs—Doyal and Gough 490
   B. Human Development and Human Capability—Martha Nussbaum 491
   C. John Finnis—Basic Human Needs 492
   D. Amartya Sen—The Capabilities Approach 492
   E. McGregor—3D Wellbeing 493
      Questions for Reflection 494

Table of Cases 495

Index 497
Welcome to a new type of casebook. Designed by leading experts in law school teaching and learning, Context and Practice casebooks assist law professors and their students to work together to learn, minimize stress, and prepare for the rigors and joys of practicing law. Student learning and preparation for law practice are the guiding ethics of these books.

Why would we depart from the tried and true? Why have we abandoned the legal education model by which we were trained? Because legal education can and must improve.

In Spring 2007, the Carnegie Foundation published Educating Lawyers: Preparation for the Practice of Law and the Clinical Legal Education Association published Best Practices for Legal Education. Both works reflect in-depth efforts to assess the effectiveness of modern legal education, and both conclude that legal education, as presently practiced, falls quite short of what it can and should be. Both works criticize law professors’ rigid adherence to a single teaching technique, the inadequacies of law school assessment mechanisms, and the dearth of law school instruction aimed at teaching law practice skills and inculcating professional values. Finally, the authors of both books express concern that legal education may be harming law students. Recent studies show that law students, in comparison to all other graduate students, have the highest levels of depression, anxiety and substance abuse.

The problems with traditional law school instruction begin with the textbooks law teachers use. Law professors cannot implement Educating Lawyers and Best Practices using texts designed for the traditional model of legal education. Moreover, even though our understanding of how people learn has grown exponentially in the past 100 years, no law school text to date even purports to have been designed with educational research in mind.

The Context and Practice Series is an effort to offer a genuine alternative. Grounded in learning theory and instructional design and written with Educating Lawyers and Best Practices in mind, Context and Practice casebooks make it easy for law professors to change.

I welcome reactions, criticisms, and suggestions; my e-mail address is michael.schwartz@washburn.edu. Knowing the author(s) of these books, I know they, too, would appreciate your input; we share a common commitment to student learning. In fact, students, if your professor cares enough about your learning to have adopted this book, I bet s/he would welcome your input, too!

Professor Michael Hunter Schwartz, Series Designer and Editor
Co-Director, Institute for Law Teaching and Learning
Associate Dean for Faculty and Academic Development
Preface and Acknowledgments

As the Carnegie¹ and Stuckey² reports have pointed out, law schools are not doing an optimal job in preparing students for the practice of law. Among the deficiencies created by the traditional law school curriculum and teaching methods, are that students fail to fully comprehend the “rich complexity of actual situations that involve full-dimensional people.”³ Students also do not fully appreciate the “social consequences or ethical aspects”⁴ of any legal conclusions that they might draw about the situations confronting those people. This book aims to expose students to that “rich complexity” and those consequences.

It also aims to expose students to different forms of advocacy and skills, and different research sources, aside from the traditional ones. Many of the problems illustrated in this book cannot be redressed by litigation alone. Advocacy must often take the form of education, activism, and negotiation, and the use of multi-faceted lawyering skills. Today's law students must also educate themselves broadly by looking beyond traditional legal research. Although, like any other traditional casebook, this book contains many cases, treaties and statutes, it also contains testimony from Senate hearings, reports of NGOs and international committees, and excerpts from briefs and newspaper articles. Law students need to learn that not all battles for justice and equality are conducted in courtrooms, and that sometimes working on a political, economic, and social level may be as, if not more, effective than litigation.

Women’s International Rights — Course Objectives

This book has been designed to help students develop knowledge and skills in five areas:

1. To foster general knowledge about the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (CEDAW), and how that Convention works to implement equality and non discrimination.
2. To foster general knowledge about how the international legal system of treaty enforcement, the treaty reporting systems, and the complaint and investigation systems, all function.
3. To foster awareness about how women’s rights fit within the general framework of international human rights.

---

4. Id.
4. To foster awareness about specific rights violations in particular areas of the world.

5. To expose students to the consequences for women when those rights are violated, and the various means of obtaining redress—including litigation, political advocacy, education, and working through NGOs.

Objectives Related to Expert Learning Skills

By the end of this text, students confronted with a particular context and issue involving women’s rights, should be able to identify the particular treaties (both international and regional) that might regulate that context, as well as any jurisprudence (in the form of case law, Declarations, or Recommendations) from the treaty bodies that might be applicable. Students should also be able to identify any domestic or international government regulatory agencies that might be interested in the issue, as well as identify domestic law that might be relevant. Students should also be able to conduct research to establish whether any NGOs have conducted studies or issued reports in this area, that might be relied on to redress the situation. Students should also be able to assess the impact of their advocacy, whichever form it takes. They should be able to determine the likely consequences for the women involved, depending on the form of advocacy taken. They should also be able to identify who might oppose their efforts and why, and how to best accomplish the goals of equality and non-discrimination.

Organization of the Text and of Each Chapter

The text begins with a brief history of women’s rights and briefly traces the development of international human rights and regional human rights, post World War II. Thereafter, each chapter traces an important theme as it impacts women, and explores what the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women (CEDAW) has to say on that topic, as well as what both international and domestic case legislation and law has to teach us. Many chapters also contain excerpts from reports of NGOs, as well as newspapers or other sources that pertain to the topic.

Each chapter begins with a problem that poses a hypothetical situation that students should be able to address after completing the chapter readings, and pondering the questions that are interspersed throughout the chapter.

Most of the cases are excerpts, but links to the full cases are provided. In some of the cases, particularly those from Africa, some of the punctuation has been changed to conform to U.S. conventions. These changes are purely cosmetic, and have not altered the meaning in any way.
Acknowledgments

Thanks to my husband, Anré, for his love and support, and my children: Clea, Emma, Eli, and Drew. May they grow up with a love for justice. Thanks also to my family in London, Cape Town, and South Bend. And to Notre Dame (Speculum Iustitiae).

A special thank you to my research assistants: Chrissi Mark, Yara Sallam, Kim Williams, and Caitlin Sikes, for their patience and hard work. And to all of the Notre Dame students who have taken my gender class over the years, whose interest in, and commitment to justice, sustains me.

Thanks are also owed to Michael Schwartz for his advice, Sarah Ricks who persuaded me to do this, Sondra Byrnes for encouraging me along the way, and Rachel Smithson and Carolina Academic Press. I also salute all the women in Zimbabwe and South Africa, and all the women who work for women’s rights, whose lives and courage continue to inspire me.
Introduction

Consider this:

• Women make up about 70% of the world’s poor
• More women than men are illiterate; many more girls than boys are denied access to education merely because of their gender
• In many countries, women are denied access to economic resources
• In parts of Africa, women are not permitted to own land
• On average, women in the workforce earn 85% of men’s salaries
• In some countries in Africa, women are not considered full legal adults, no matter their age
• An estimated 100–140 million women worldwide have undergone Female Genital Mutilation (FGM)
• Between 15% and 71% of women have reported physical or sexual violence by a husband or partner
• Many women said that their first sexual experience was not consensual (24% in rural Peru, 28% in Tanzania, 30% in rural Bangladesh, and 40% in South Africa)
• Worldwide, between 4% and 12% of women reported being physically abused during pregnancy
• Every year, about 5,000 women are murdered by family members in the name of honor
• Trafficking of women and girls for forced labor and sex is widespread, and often affects the most vulnerable
• Forced marriages and child marriages violate the human rights of women and girls, yet they are widely practiced in many countries in Asia, the Middle East, and sub-Saharan Africa

In 1979, the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women (CEDAW) was enacted, with the purpose of ending discrimination against women, as its title suggests. It entered into force in 1981. To date, 183 countries are parties to the Convention. Yet thirty years after CEDAW, rampant discrimination against women still persists. This book will explore the evolution of women’s rights, the options available for victims of discrimination, and the impact of CEDAW on the lives and concerns of women.