Acknowledgments

I remain deeply indebted to students at William Mitchell College of Law who made this project much more creative, interactive, stimulating and fun to do. In addition to Steve Hickman ('09) and the numerous students that have taken Trademark Law with me and relied on this text, Stephanie Hilstrom ('13) and Kristen Clark ('13) worked tirelessly for an entire year on researching, editing and thinking to make this project as good as it could be. In the end, they had to volunteer to do the project, no salary, no credit, nothing. As a testament to their amazing character, this did not affect them. They continued on and were working on this project the day they graduated from law school. Jake Sherlock ('14) picked up where Steph and Kristen left off and helped finish this project with skill and grace.

If there are any errors remaining, they are mine.

Editorial Note

For the sake of simplicity and accessibility, many footnotes from primary cases and law review articles have been omitted. Many footnotes that remain have been renumbered.
