Dedication

There is not enough room to thank everyone who has helped me, directly or indirectly, on this project, but special mention must surely be made of my law school Dean, Rayman Solomon; my research assistants, Travis Weitzel, Becky Lawnicki, Ann McDonough, and Jana Taylor; my secretary, Kaeko Jackson; and all the others at Rutgers who have supported me throughout. My editor at Anderson, Keith Moore, deserves special praise for his unfailing patience and understanding, as does Prof. Nancy Staudt who—although not claiming credit as a co-author—read more than one draft and was instrumental in both the conception and execution of the finished product. My wife, Anne Weiss, and my children, Benjamin and Daniel, are to be thanked for their constant encouragement and for providing the meaning in life that makes me want to learn new subjects and explore new territories. Finally, I wish to thank the Source of Life for sustaining me and enabling me to reach this happy occasion. Without all of them nothing would matter.
