

Making Law Review

Making Law Review

A Guide to the Write-On Competition

Second Edition
Revised Printing

Wes Henricksen

CAROLINA ACADEMIC PRESS

Durham, North Carolina

Copyright © 2017
Wes Henricksen
All Rights Reserved.

Making Law Review Second Edition, Revised Printing
ISBN: 978-1-5310-0810-9

The Library of Congress has cataloged the original 2017 printing as follows:

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Names: Henricksen, Wes, author.

Title: Making law review : a guide to the write-on competition / Wes Henricksen.

Description: Second edition. | Durham, North Carolina : Carolina Academic
Press, LLC, 2017. | Includes bibliographical references and index.

Identifiers: LCCN 2016059517 | ISBN 9781611636581 (alk. paper)

Subjects: LCSH: Legal composition. | Law students--United States--Handbooks, manuals, etc. | Law reviews--Competitions--United States.

Classification: LCC KF250 .H46 2017 | DDC 808.06/634--dc23

LC record available at <https://lccn.loc.gov/2016059517>

e-ISBN: 978-1-53100-555-9

Carolina Academic Press LLC
700 Kent Street
Durham, North Carolina 27701
Telephone (919) 489-7486
Fax (919) 493-5668
www.cap-press.com

Printed in the United States of America.

For Natalia

Contents

Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction	3
Chapter 1 · What Is the Law Review?	7
A Little Historical Context	9
Some Global Context	11
Strange but True . . .	12
Chapter 2 · Should You Be on Law Review?	15
Benefits	16
1. Increased Employment Opportunities	16
2. A Credential You Can Talk About	17
3. Develop Relationships with Classmates and Professors	18
4. Honing Your Lawyering Skills	19
5. Unique Opportunity to Publish	19
6. Potential Future Benefits — The Unknown Variable	20
Drawbacks	21
1. Time Consuming	21
2. Tedious	22
3. Obscure and Theoretical	23
4. Law Review Backlash	24
Chapter 3 · Methods of Getting onto the Law Review	25
Method #1: Grade-On	25
Method #2: Write-On	26
Method #3: Composite-On	27
Method #4: Note-On	28
Method #5: Walk-On	28

Chapter 4 · An Overview of the Write-On Competition	31
The Main Assignment	31
Casenote vs. Comment	33
Casenotes	33
Comments	34
Other Possible Tasks	36
Chapter 5 · Preparing for the Write-On Competition	39
Preparation Activity 1: Attend the Law Review Informational Meeting	39
Preparation Activity 2: Clear Your Schedule	40
Preparation Activity 3: Maximize Your Knowledge of the Bluebook	41
Other Common Bluebooking Errors	43
Bluebooking Quiz	45
Preparation Activity 4: Read Old Submission Papers and Published Student Casenotes and Comments	47
Casenote Excerpt	47
Preparation Activity 5: Read the Papers You Wrote for Your First Year Legal Writing Course	51
Preparation Activity 6: Create an Appropriate Atmosphere	51
Chapter 6 · Writing Your Submission Paper	53
Step 1: Read and Re-Read the Instructions Important: Focus on the Prompt	55
Step 2: Read All the Source Materials	56
Step 3: Select a Claim	58
a. Best Supported	59
b. Most Original	59
c. Politically Correct	60
d. All Else Being Equal, Flip a Coin	60
Step 4: Write a First Draft	60
a. Follow the Instructions Regarding Structure and Format	61
b. Make Effective Use of the Authorities	61
i. Make sure that seemingly inapplicable authorities are not somehow useful to your argument	61

ii. Differentiate between binding and persuasive authority	62
c. Add Footnotes or Endnotes as You Write, and Use All the Space Allowed for Citations	63
d. Keep Paragraphs Generally Short and Vary the Sentence Length	63
e. Include Headings	64
f. Use Active Voice	65
g. Choose Your Words Carefully	66
i. Prefer simple terms over complex ones	67
ii. Use concrete words and phrases	67
iii. Read your writing out loud	68
h. Politically Correct (Again)	69
i. Avoid Humor and Sarcasm	70
j. Address Counterarguments	70
k. Mind the Page Limit	71
Step 5: Do the Editing Exercise and Draft Your Personal Statement, if Your Competition Includes These	71
Step 6: Revise and Organize Your Paper	72
a. Improve the Paper's Uniformity and Flow	73
b. Make Sure Most Paragraphs Have a Topic Sentence	74
c. Bridge the Paragraphs Together	74
d. Make Sure There Is Consistency of Argument	76
e. Avoid Redundancy	76
f. Adhere to the Page Limit	77
g. Save the Deleted Material	78
h. Include an Introduction and a Conclusion	78
Step 7: Proofread	78
a. Citations, Including Case Names	79
b. Quotes	80
c. Footnotes and Endnotes	80
d. Style and Structure	81
e. Your Paper's Title	82
Step 8: Maximize Your Paper's Aesthetic Quality	82
a. Which Legal Document?	83
b. Headings	84

c. Body Text and Footnotes/Endnotes	84
d. Use a Laser Printer	85
Step 9: Do a Final Proofread Before Submitting Your Paper	85
Chapter 7 · The Editing Exercise	87
1. Follow the Instructions	87
2. If the Editing Exercise Is Paper-Based . . .	87
3. If the Editing Exercise Is Computer-Based . . .	88
4. Try to Find an Error in Every Footnote	88
5. Don't Get Comfortable after Making a Few Edits	89
6. Insert Notes If Allowed	89
7. If You Don't Know It, Look It Up	90
Chapter 8 · The Personal Statement	91
1. Follow the Directions	91
2. Write Well	91
3. Portray Yourself as Interesting and Likeable	92
4. A Note on Specialty Journal Personal Statements	92
5. Have Someone Review Your Personal Statement, If Allowed	93
Conclusion	95
Afterword	97
Appendix	101
Endnotes	105
Introduction	105
Chapter 1	105
Chapter 2	107
Chapter 3	107
Chapter 4	108
Chapter 5	108
Chapter 6	109
Afterword	109
Index	111

Acknowledgments

Many friends and colleagues of mine helped make this book a reality. I would first like to thank the following former law review members for generously contributing their time and knowledge to help make this book as complete and useful as possible: Janna Aginsky, Adam Brenneman, Marianne Hogan, and Charles Walsh. Their intelligent and thoughtful advice improved the book immeasurably. Many thanks, as well, to the numerous other law review members who took the time to discuss their law schools' write-on competitions with me. This book would have been incomplete without their assistance.

One law review member who deserves my highest praise is Patricia Blotzer. Her keen eye and attention to detail improved this Second Edition enormously.

I completed much of the initial research for Making Law Review at the law library at the Universidad de Puerto Rico in Río Piedras. I have many fond memories of walking up and down the aisles of bookshelves of the Biblioteca de Derecho, searching for this book or that law review volume. As happens to me in every library, I felt welcome, comfortable, and happy there. I owe UPR a big debt of gratitude.

I am greatly indebted, as well, to everyone at the Barry University School of Law whose support for this Second Edition helped make it possible. A few individuals there were particularly instrumental to this project: Dean Leticia Diaz and Professors Cathren Koehlert-Page, Brian Sites, Helia Hull, and Seema Mohapatra. Also, Katherine Sutcliffe-Lenart at Barry Law School and Professor Denitsa Mavrova Heinrich at the University of North Dakota School of Law each played an important role in the development of this Second Edition.

Three other individuals, each of them mentors of mine, also had a hand in breathing life into this book: Judge Robert H. Whaley, Magistrate Judge Bruce J. McGiverin, and Monty A. McIntyre. Their advice and example have been a guiding light for me in my own life and career.

I must also thank Benita Baird for the kindness and generosity she showed me while I was writing this book, and for lending me a hand when I very much needed it. Three recent colleagues of mine also deserve recognition here, not only for helping me out during the writing of this Second Edition, but also, and more importantly, for being great people to work with: Cherie Brodnax-Eaves, Tasha Rodney, and Jessie Torres.

I would also like to thank Bob Conrow for giving my manuscript a chance, Karen Clayton for helping me polish it up, Kelly Miller for the brilliant First Edition cover, and everyone else at Carolina Academic Press who helped make this book a reality. For their help with the Second Edition, I am also very grateful to Ryland Bowman, Charley Rutan, TJ Smithers, and Sara Hjelt.

And finally, my biggest thank-you goes to Natalia, my wife and my partner. How lucky I was when I first saw you all those years ago on the dance floor in Buenos Aires. I asked you to dance and you said yes. Everything that has happened since can be traced back to that simple and miraculous answer. Had you turned me down, I'd never have written this book.