This book provides an introduction to securitization as a method of financing. In modern practice, a large variety of assets are securitized, and students who study securitization will soon realize that many asset types have developed their own terminology and special concerns. Rather than survey all the various asset types, we have attempted to provide students with background general principles common to all types of securitizations. Additional resources, for those desiring to learn more about a particular kind of securitization, may be found at www.law.unlv.edu/faculty/bam/securitization/, and at www.law.duke.edu/globalmark.

We have used publicly available materials relating to a recent auto loan securitization by Honda to illustrate many of the basic concepts related to securitization. Students may benefit from seeing the actual documents produced in this particular transaction and learning more about the specific deal from them. These documents have been collected at the UNLV website listed above and some of them are reprinted in the appendices at the back of this book.

The materials are suitable for an independent course or seminar in securitization and structured finance, and also may be used as supplementary reading or as advanced examples in courses in bankruptcy, secured transactions, trusts, corporations, securities regulation, corporate finance, tax, banking or accounting.

We thank and acknowledge the Practising Law Institute for its permission for us to excerpt material from STEVEN L. SCHWARCZ, STRUCTURED FINANCE: A GUIDE TO THE PRINCIPLES OF ASSET SECURITIZATION (PLI 3d ed. 2003). In addition, some of the other previously published work of Professor Schwarcz listed below, has been incorporated throughout this book (with permission).

The Impact on Securitization of Revised UCC Article 9, 74 CHI.-KENT L. REV. 947 (1999).
Rethinking the Role of Recourse in the Sale of Financial Assets, 52 BUS. LAW. 159 (1996) [co-author].
The Alchemy of Asset Securitization, 1 STAN. J. L., BUS. & FINANCE 133 (1994).

We are indebted to the following authors and publishers for their generosity in giving us permission to reprint excerpts from copyrighted materials:

We thank also Willys H. Schneider and Kathleen O’Keefe, both with Kaye Scholer LLP, for their assistance with material included in Chapter 5 on tax issues. A. Bradley Ives of David L. Babson & Company Inc. also provided helpful background for Chapter 5. Any errors, of course, remain our own. Thanks to our student research assistants who helped us prepare this manuscript, including (for Professor Schwarcz) Adam Ford; (for Professor Broome) Adam Whitten, Joel Sawyer, Stephanie Patterson, and Brian Meacham; and (for Professor Markell) Carla Kok and Jin Kim. All of us send special thanks to the students to whom we have taught these materials for their patience and guidance.
