Preface

For the Fourth Edition, our goal was to “polish the apple” by replacing cases that were not effective in class and adding new and important ones. One of our goals was also to include cases with human interest in the book.

We have added many new cases and removed older cases that did not work well in class. We also shortened the casebook in an effort to reflect actual coverage in first year torts courses.

For this edition, we once again tried to incorporate comments we have received from those who have adopted the casebook. We hope to have been responsive.

Enjoy.

Acknowledgments

For the Fourth Edition, I am especially indebted to the organizational and computer expertise of Marianne D'Souza. I also appreciate the support and encouragement of Emory Law School. — Frank Vandall

For the Fourth Edition, I am deeply in the debt of Patricia Trask, my assistant, whose unfailing generosity with her time and expertise were invaluable. Christopher Merken, research assistant extraordinaire, provided crucial assistance for the Casebook and Teacher's Manual. — Ellen Wertheimer

For the Fourth Edition, I wish to acknowledge the encouragement and support I received from Dean Gregory Mandel and my faculty colleagues at Temple University Beasley School of Law. — Mark C. Rahdert
