THE SERIES

The Association Henri Capitant has been working to disseminate, modernise and promote civil law for over eight decades. It has traditionally focused on national and international days and bilateral symposia or seminars, which it organises on a regular basis.

As part of the Association's tireless efforts in pursuit of its objectives, its Deputy General Secretary, Cyril Grimaldi, came up with the idea of creating the "Association Henri Capitant Library". The Association's national groups were therefore invited to explain the broad outlines of their law in a series of books, all based on an identical structure, with a limited character count, to give readers the chance to explore and compare the foundations and fundamental features of various systems of law.

As a result, each book in the collection features chapters on the history of the law, its sources, the constitutional framework, legal professionals, criminal law, legal persons, family, property, contracts, liability, quasi-contracts, businesses and labour law.

This provides an invaluable introduction to each system of law, and more besides. Any member of the Association with a user name (visit <http://www.henricapitant.org> to register) can contact the authors of any of the books by e-mail to discuss issues with them (bibliothequecapitant@lextenso.fr).

The new collection is clearly of immense value, giving everyone the opportunity to explore and understand the substance and spirit that make up and inspire the various systems of foreign law featured in the series. Its contribution to comparative law is simply unparalleled; it offers undoubted benefits to all those who understand the value of stepping outside the boundaries of their own law to better appreciate it and draw inspiration from other forms of law to support its development.
