

LESSONS LEARNED

LESSONS LEARNED

Stories of a Teacher and Teaching

David M. Becker

JOSEPH H. ZUMBALEN PROFESSOR
OF THE LAW OF PROPERTY EMERITUS
WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF LAW

CAROLINA ACADEMIC PRESS
Durham, North Carolina

Copyright © 2019
David M. Becker
All Rights Reserved

ISBN 978-1-5310-1511-4
e-ISBN 978-1-5310-1512-1

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Names: Becker, David M., 1935- author.

Title: Lessons learned / by David M. Becker.

Description: Durham, North Carolina : Carolina Academic Press, LLC, 2019. |
Includes bibliographical references and index.

Identifiers: LCCN 2019006343 | ISBN 9781531015114 (alk. paper)

Subjects: LCSH: Lawyers--Fiction. | Law schools--Fiction. | Law
students--Fiction. | Legal stories.

Classification: LCC PS3602.E2893 L47 2019 | DDC 813/.6--dc23

LC record available at <https://lccn.loc.gov/2019006343>

Carolina Academic Press
700 Kent Street
Durham, NC 27701
Telephone (919) 489-7486
Fax (919) 493-5668
www.cap-press.com

Printed in the United States of America

For my students from whom I have learned much, and in memory of two among them—Stuart Oelbaum and Chaitanya Maddali.

CONTENTS

	PREFACE	IX
1	MY SUMMER AS RESEARCH ASSISTANT TO PROFESSOR E. RANDALL MANN Billie Williams	3
2	THE BEST TEACHER I HAVE EVER KNOWN: MR. BB E. Randall Mann	29
3	MY FAVORITE COLLEAGUE E. Randall Mann	49
4	RACE AND THE EDUCATION OF A YOUNG TEACHER E. Randall Mann	73
5	ALMOST A DEAN E. Randall Mann	87
6	THE REUNION E. Randall Mann	103
7	TALES OF FEAR: OF TEACHERS AND STUDENTS E. Randall Mann	125
8	ABOUT MY FAVORITE STUDENT (AND ALSO ABOUT MY DAUGHTER) From Whom I Have Learned Much E. Randall Mann	147
9	A POSTSCRIPT Billie Williams	177
	ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	179

PREFACE

This book is about lessons learned (both conferred and received) by a fictitious protagonist, E. Randall Mann, who had been a law teacher at a major law school for over fifty years. There are nine stories or chapters that comprise this book. The stories appear as written in the first person by Mann and a fictitious student, Billie Williams, who served as his research assistant after he had retired and ultimately wrote two of the stories in remembrance following Mann's death. Although the context for lessons learned is law school and legal education, the lessons are intended to be transcendent. They explore the complex ingredients of life that often enrich us all. Courage. Resilience and Survival. Introspection, Self-Knowledge and Awareness. Death and Loss. Race. Trust. Friendship. Love. And above all Inspiration.

Despite the appearance of Mann and Williams as authors, I am the true author and, like Mann, a law teacher for over fifty years. To be sure, this book could have been written differently; for example, in the third person or as non-fiction. And if fiction, I could have appeared as the protagonist as well as the author. Yet this book of stories is not an embellished autobiography, an inference by readers I want studiously to avoid. Certainly, the lessons learned are lessons I embrace. Nevertheless, I firmly believe that only fiction allowed me to depart from personal experience and real life, and to disguise and borrow from others, and especially to completely fabricate. Best of all, it offered the joy and freedom to let conversations among characters take me in unexpected directions that led to new insights, new twists, better stories, and heightened messages for life and living. Something legal writing for over fifty years never allowed.

So I hope you enjoy these stories, because I loved every moment in creating them.

David M. Becker
April 2019

