About the Editors

Barbara Kolsun is a Professor of Practice at Cardozo School of Law, Yeshiva University, and is also the Director of The FAME Center for Fashion, Arts, Media and Entertainment Law at Cardozo School of Law, the first law school program providing training and development opportunities relating to the representation of businesses driven by the creative process. She has been a leading fashion industry attorney for 35 years, and was also co-editor of the first handbook on Fashion Law, Fashion Law: A Guide for Designers, Fashion Executives and Attorneys (Bloomsbury, 2010, 2014), and the first casebook on Fashion Law, Fashion Law: Cases and Materials (Carolina Academic Press, 2016). She developed the first joint JD/MBA course in Fashion Law and Business at New York University and has also taught at Fordham Law School and guest lectured at dozens of law schools and fashion schools. She started the legal departments at three “startups”—Kate Spade, Seven for All Mankind and Stuart Weitzman and was the first General Counsel at all three companies. She was Assistant GC at Calvin Klein Jeans and Westpoint Stevens and has probably been through more mergers than most lawyers in the fashion business. While in private practice, her clients included Tommy Hilfiger and Ralph Lauren, and currently she continues to consult with fashion companies on various issues. She has chaired and been a regular speaker at the Luxury Law Summit in New York and London for several years. She has been honored with lifetime achievement awards in 2015 by the Luxury Summit and the World Trademark Forum, and another lifetime achievement award from the Women in Law Empowerment Forum. She has also served as Chairman of the Board of the International Anticounterfeiting Coalition and has spoken and published widely on fashion law around the world.

Douglas Hand is a Partner at Hand, Baldachin & Associates, LLP in New York and an Adjunct Professor at NYU Law School (where he also sits on the Fashion & Luxury Council) and Cardozo School of Law, Yeshiva University (where he also sits on the Board of Advisors for The FAME Center for Fashion, Arts, Media and Entertainment Law). He is also the Secretary and Board Member of the Fashion Institute of Technology (FIT) Foundation and a member of the CFDA Fashion Awards Guild. Douglas’ experience in the fashion and retail world has led him to counsel global brands such as Everlane, Rag & Bone, Stella McCartney and Zadig & Voltaire. His book, The Laws of Style, was published by the American Bar Association in 2018 and he hosts a podcast of the same name.
