Acknowledgments

We thank our wonderful research assistants Adam LaBonte, Chantel Green, Kara Large, Kristen O’Donnell, Elise Pautler, Giovanni Giarratana, and the many other research assistants who have helped us in our previous studies cited in this book. We also thank our colleagues who have worked with us on previous articles and studies discussed in this book, particularly William Christensen. We could (would?) not have written this book without the generous support of Stetson University College of Law, and we thank the administration for its support of our scholarship and this book. Finally, we thank Amy Oaks Long for her editing and proofreading over the entire course of writing this book.
