Acknowledgments

This book would not have been possible without the support of many individuals. First, and foremost, I must thank Carolina Academic Press for providing me with an opportunity to write this book. A special thanks to Beth Hall, the Acquisitions Editor, who approved this book project and TJ Smithers in the Production Department. Also, thanks to Laura Dewey who provided the index. Second, a very big thank you to Devan Duenas at Seattle University. Devan worked as my Research Assistant on this project, and he never let me down. He worked tirelessly on editing my chapters and formatting the book per required guidelines, and he single-handedly was responsible for all the instructor materials for the teacher's manual. He never missed a deadline I gave him, his work ethic and dedication to this project was amazing, and the work that he produced for this project was always at such a high caliber. I am very grateful and appreciative of his help on this project.

I would also like to thank the Dean's Office of the College of Arts and Sciences at Seattle University for their support. Additionally, I would like to thank my Criminal Justice Department colleagues and staff who have been so supportive throughout this project: Jackie Helfgott, Matthew Hickman, Stephen Rice, Peter Collins, William Parkin, David Connor, Kate Reynolds, and Devin MacKrell. Finally, I would like to thank my family, friends, and loved ones who cheered me along the way. Since I arrived at Seattle University in 2004, Jackie Helfgott has been an incredible mentor and friend. Thanks Jackie for all the lunches, coffee breaks, advice, and attempts to get me to move from a Type A to a Type A- personality. I am not there yet, but I am trying! I am also very thankful to my husband, Daniel, who has cheered me yet again on another book endeavor. Thanks Dan for always standing by my side, supporting me, and being the best friend ever. Of course, I am so thankful for my wonderful boys, Zachary and Evan. Both boys are smart, kind, loving, caring, athletic, talented, and hardworking, and I am so lucky to be their mom. Thanks boys for listening to my many discussions of content in this book on our bike rides and walks over the summer. I also cannot leave out thanks to my miniature dachshund, Snaps, who slept and snored next to me as I wrote this book. She is such an amazing dog! Another miniature dachshund, Paws, also helped as I completed this book. Paws is Evan's dog, and while he was away at school, Paws slept on my lap as I edited this book. I would also like to thank my many friends from graduate school (Lo Presser, Julie Kiernan-Coon, Lisa McCartan-Kim, Randy and Kati Pagulayan) and beyond (Katie and Paul Windle, the Collins family) for their encouragement. Last, but not least, I would like to thank my parents, Walter and Jane, for all their support. Thanks for all your phone calls, visits, and words of wisdom. Also, thanks for joining us on vacations in wonderful locations, allowing us all to be together and giving me the opportunity to de-stress over all the projects I am involved with.
