

Small-Town GTMO

Small-Town GTMO

---

The Layers of Estate, Sovereignty, and Soil
in U.S. Naval Station Guantánamo Bay

Christina M. Frohock

CAROLINA ACADEMIC PRESS
Durham, North Carolina

Copyright © 2016
Christina M. Frohock
All Rights Reserved

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Names: Frohock, Christina M., author.

Title: Small-town GTMO : the layers of estate, sovereignty, and soil in U.S.
Naval Station Guantanamo Bay / Christina M. Frohock.

Other titles: Layers of estate, sovereignty, and soil in in U.S. Naval Station Guantanamo Bay

Description: Durham, North Carolina : Carolina Academic Press, [2016] |
Includes bibliographical references and index.

Identifiers: LCCN 2016024795 | ISBN 9781611638080 (alk. paper)

Subjects: LCSH: Guantáanamo Bay Naval Base (Cuba)--History. | Guantáanamo Bay
Naval Base (Cuba)--International status.

Classification: LCC VA68.G8 F76 2016 | DDC 359.7097291/97--dc23

LC record available at <https://lccn.loc.gov/2016024795>

CAROLINA ACADEMIC PRESS, LLC
700 Kent Street
Durham, North Carolina 27701
Telephone (919) 489-7486
Fax (919) 493-5668
www.cap-press.com

Printed in the United States of America.

For Alexander, my inspiration

Contents

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| Acknowledgements   | ix  |
| Chapter 1 · First Impressions                                | 3   |
| Chapter 2 · A Most Excellent Harbor                          | 9   |
| Taking Guantánamo in the Spanish-American War                | 9   |
| A Century Later, Six Hours on the Ground                     | 19  |
| Chapter 3 · No Ordinary Lease for Guantánamo                 | 39  |
| Formalizing the Naval Station Agreement                      | 39  |
| A Few Months Later, a More Leisurely Visit                   | 48  |
| Cuba's Reversionary Property Interest in Guantánamo          | 65  |
| American Days and Nights                                     | 83  |
| Chapter 4 · One Naval Station Under Two Sovereigns           | 109 |
| De Jure and De Facto Sovereignty               | 109 |
| Under the Sun and Stars                                      | 117 |
| Cuba's Reversionary Sovereignty Over Guantánamo              | 129 |
| Cuban Community atop the American Base atop the Cuban Island | 140 |
| Chapter 5 · Homecoming                                       | 159 |
| Index  | 163 |

Acknowledgements

I am grateful to many people. To Dean Patricia D. White and Vice Dean Patrick O. Gudridge at the University of Miami School of Law: thank you for encouraging and supporting this writing project. To the Miami Law Librarians, especially Bianca Anderson, A.J. Blechner, Barbara Cuadras, Nicole Downing, Pamela Lucken, and Robin Schard: thank you for finding every source I requested, no matter how old or obscure, and for continuing to take my calls. To the staff at the University of Miami Libraries' Cuban Heritage Collection, especially former Chair Maria Estorino: thank you for providing original sources and a lovely reading room. To William Jacobs, Science and Engineering Librarian at the University of Miami: thank you for checking my calculations in the book and for boosting my math confidence. To my friends and colleagues who read the manuscript, Carolina Cifuentes, Allison Green, Kirk R. Hibbert, Marcos D. Jiménez, Terence R. Peck, Kári Hólmur Ragnarsson, David Roller, Vance E. Salter, K. Renée Schimkat, Richard V. Sode, Annabelle Torgman, and Annette Torres: thank you for your time and thoughtful comments. This book would be incomplete without your input. To my student research assistants, Allison Green (doing double duty as a reader after graduation) and Ryan Feingold: thank you for reviewing every page and for checking every citation. Your future is bright, and the legal profession is lucky to have you both. To the editors and staff at Carolina Academic Press: thank you for believing in this project and for carrying it through to publication. To the men and women stationed at U.S. Naval Station Guantánamo Bay: thank you for hosting me and for sharing your insights. I could never have written this book without the privilege of base visits. Finally, to my family: thank you for a lifetime of generosity and love.

