Preface and Acknowledgments

Our goals for this book are described in Chapter 1, the Introduction. This preface is instead our opportunity to thank and acknowledge those who have contributed their wisdom, time, humor, and guidance to this project.

General Acknowledgements

We wish to acknowledge with appreciation the following authors and publishers, who have graciously granted us permission to reprint excerpts from their publication.

Rutkin, Oldham, & Hogan, § 50:57. Sample Prenuptial Agreement 8A Conn. Prac., Family Law & Prac. § 50:57 (3d ed.) Westlaw, Reprinted by Permission of Thomson Reuters, all rights reserved.

We are both grateful for Samantha Gozlan, a third-year law student at Nova Southeastern University College of Law, who provided excellent research assistance with astonishing efficiency, judgment, and good cheer. We also thank Mariana Muci, Gabriel Fernandez Galiana, and Scherherazade Ferrand for their outstanding research assistance.

We are also grateful for the wonderful illustrations used throughout the book. All of the illustrations are by Christopher J. Carter, currently a law student at Ave Maria School of Law, a truly talented artist.

We both are also exceedingly grateful to David Weiss, Esq. for his thoughtful editorial suggestions, insights, and guidance. He generously shared his wisdom from his years of experience negotiating complex transactions with us and the book is truly enhanced by his efforts.

Our thanks also to our many students over the years not only in our negotiation courses, but also in courses as varied as evidence, professional responsibility, torts, federal securities regulations, income tax, property, international tax, wills, and trusts. Our students' insights, questions, and enthusiastic participation have greatly enhanced our teaching in this complex and fascinating world of negotiations.

Personal Acknowledgements

Lynn A. Epstein

To my husband, David, the best negotiator I know. Thank you for your guidance and optimism; my love and admiration always. To my son, Alex, thank you for being my millennial consultant. <3. To my father, sisters, and brother-in-law, thank you for your support and for providing me with years of practicing arms-open negotiations. To my mother, I am grateful to you for teaching me years ago that in a dispute you should “always let them save face.” That advice has been invaluable, not only in negotiations but also in life. I miss you every day.

Elena Maria Marty-Nelson

I appreciate and thank my husband, David Nelson, an exceptionally skilled attorney and negotiator, whose brilliance and humor inspired me throughout this project. Thank you for being the best partner. I am also grateful to my sons, Scott and Matt, for their encouragement and wit. Finally, I thank my inspiring mother, Judy Marty, who continues to teach, lead, and negotiate with the best of them.
