

The African Civil Service Fifty Years after Independence

Recent Titles in the
CAROLINA ACADEMIC PRESS
AFRICAN WORLD SERIES
Toyin Falola, Series Editor

The African Civil Service Fifty Years after Independence
Edited by Emmanuel M. Mbah and Augustine E. Ayuk

Africa, Empire and Globalization: Essays in Honor of A. G. Hopkins
Edited by Toyin Falola and Emily Brownell

Against the Predators' Republic: Political and Cultural Journalism, 2007–2013
Biodun Jeyifo

Contentious Politics in Africa: Identity, Conflict, and Social Change
Toyin Falola and Wanjala S. Nasong'o

Contesting Islam in Africa
Abdulai Iddrisu

Converging Identities: Blackness in the Modern African Diaspora
Edited by Julius O. Adekunle and Hettie V. Williams

Decolonizing the University, Knowledge Systems and Disciplines in Africa
Edited by Sabelo J. Ndlovu-Gatsheni and Siphamandla Zondi

Democradura: Essays on Nigeria's Limited Democracy
Femi Mimiko

Diaspora and Imagined Nationality
Koleade Odutola

Èṣù: Yoruba God, Power, and the Imaginative Frontiers
Edited by Toyin Falola

Ethnicities, Nationalities, and Cross-Cultural Representations in Africa and the Diaspora
Edited by Gloria Chuku

Gendering African Social Spaces: Women, Power, and Cultural Expressions
Toyin Falola and Wanjala S. Nasong'o

Ghana During the First World War: The Colonial Administration of Sir Hugh Clifford
Elizabeth Wrangham

Globalization: The Politics of Global Economic Relations and International Business
N. Oluwafemi Mimiko

Globalization and the African Experience
Edited by Emmanuel M. Mbah and Steven J. Salm

A History of Class Formation in the Plateau Province of Nigeria, 1902–1960
Monday Yakiban Mangvwat

Horror in Paradise
Edited by Christopher LaMonica and J. Shola Omotola

Ifá in Yorùbá Thought System
Omotade Adegbindin

Imperialism, Economic Development and Social Change in West Africa
Raymond Dumett

The Indigenous African Criminal Justice System for the Modern World
Olusina Akeredolu

Issues in African Political Economies
Edited by Toyin Falola and Jamaine Abidogun

Julius Nyerere, Africa's Titan on a Global Stage: Perspectives from Arusha to Obama
Edited by Ali A. Mazrui and Linda L. Mhando

"Life Not Worth Living"
Chima J. Korieh

Local Government in South Africa Since 1994
Alexius Amtaika

The Muse of Anomy: Essays on Literature and the Humanities in Nigeria
Femi Osofisan

Nollywood: Popular Culture and Narratives of Youth Struggles in Nigeria
Paul Ugor

Pan-Africanism in Ghana: African Socialism, Neoliberalism, and Globalization
Justin Williams

Perspectives on Feminism from Africa
Edited by 'Lai Oluode

Satires of Power in Yoruba Visual Culture
Yomi Ola

The United States' Foreign Policy in Africa in the 21st Century
Edited by Adebayo Oyeade

The Vile Trade: Slavery and the Slave Trade in Africa
Edited by Abi Alabo Derefaka, Wole Ogundele, Akin Alao, and Augustus Babajide

The Yoruba Frontier
Aribidesi Usman

Women, Gender, and Sexualities in Africa
Edited by Toyin Falola and Nana Akua Amponsah

The African Civil Service Fifty Years after Independence

With Case Studies from Cameroon, Ghana, Kenya and Nigeria

Edited by

Emmanuel M. Mbah

Augustine E. Ayuk

CAROLINA ACADEMIC PRESS

Durham, North Carolina

Copyright ©2017
Carolina Academic Press, LLC
All Rights Reserved

Print ISBN 978-1-61163-910-0
E-ISBN 978-1-5310-0603-7

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Names: Mbah, Emmanuel M., editor, author. | Ayuk, Augustine E., editor, author.

Title: The African civil service fifty years after independence : with case studies from Cameroon, Ghana, Kenya and Nigeria / edited by Emmanuel M. Mbah and Augustine E. Ayuk.

Description: Durham : Carolina Academic Press, 2016. | Includes bibliographical references and index.

Identifiers: LCCN 2016043644 | ISBN 9781611639100 (alk. paper)

Subjects: LCSH: Civil service--Africa, Sub-Saharan--History. | Africa, Sub-Saharan--Officials and employees. | Africa, Sub-Saharan--Politics and government--1960-

Classification: LCC JQ1876.Z1 .A375 2016 | DDC 351.67--dc23

LC record available at <https://lccn.loc.gov/2016043644>

CAROLINA ACADEMIC PRESS, LLC
700 Kent Street
Durham, North Carolina 27701
Telephone (919) 489-7486
Fax (919) 493-5668
www.cap-press.com

Printed in the United States of America

Contents

Series Editor's Preface	xi
List of Figures	xiii
Notes on Contributors	xv
Acknowledgments	xix
 Chapter 1 · Introduction: The African Civil Service Fifty Years after Independence	 3
Introduction	3
The Civil Service in Post-Independence Africa	4
Growth in Size of the Civil Service in Africa	6
Catalyst of Failure in the Civil Service	7
The Good Days and the Bad Times of the Civil Service in Africa	8
Case for Civil Service Reforms	9
Bolstering the Civil Service in Africa	11
Organization of the Book	11
Bibliography	14
Notes	15
 Chapter 2 · Corruption and Rent Seeking in the African Civil Service: Origins, Manifestations, and Possible Remedies	 17
Introduction	17
Bureaucratic Corruption: A Conceptualization	18
Corruption in the African Civil Service: Origins and Manifestations	20
Remedies to Bureaucratic Corruption	27
1. Strengthening Public Institutions	28
2. Creation of Anti-Corruption Agencies	29
3. The Public Choice Approach	31
4. External Actors and Transactional Transparency	32
Conclusion	34
Bibliography	35
Notes	37

Chapter 3 · Political and Administrative Decentralization in Africa: An Assessment of Pseudo Decentralization in Cameroon	39
Introduction	39
Rationale for Centralization of Power	41
Decentralization	44
Rationales for Decentralization	45
Review of Literature	46
Dimensions of Decentralization (3Ds)	47
Deconcentration (Administrative Decentralization)	47
Devolution (Institutional/Democratic Devolution)	49
Delegation	50
Decentralization: Benefits and Challenges	50
Politics of Decentralization in Cameroon	52
Brief History	52
Genesis of Decentralization in Cameroon	53
Facilitators of Decentralization	54
Pseudo or Genuine Decentralization in Cameroon	59
Conclusion	61
Bibliography	62
Notes	66
 Chapter 4 · Railway Politics, Colonial Civil Service and Imperialism in Nigeria	 71
Introduction	71
International Political Economy in the Nineteenth Century and the Rationale for Railway Development in Nigeria	73
Construction of Railways in Nigeria	78
Lagos Government Railway	81
Baro-Kano Railway	82
Bauchi Light Railway	84
Eastern Nigerian Railway	85
Performance of the NR into the 1930s	87
Conclusion	91
Bibliography	92
Notes	96

Chapter 5 · Kenya's Civil Service after Fifty Years: Colonial Legacies and Prospects for Transformation	101
Introduction	101
Key Civil Service Historical Developments in Kenya	102
The Kenyan Civil Service, 1918–1963	102
The Kenyan Civil Service, 1963–2000	103
The Kenyan Civil Service: The Present State	107
Challenges Facing Civil Service in Kenya	110
Corruption in the Kenyan Civil Service	110
Conclusion	113
Bibliography	115
Notes	118
 Chapter 6 · Ensuring Effectiveness in the Twenty-First Century Cameroon Civil Service: A Cultural Competence Perspective	 123
Introduction	123
Literature Review	126
SAPs' Effects	126
Education System	127
Big Government and Corruption	128
Big Government	128
Corruption	128
Recruitments, Appointments, and Transfers	129
Spoil System	130
Identity Politics	131
Lack of Cultural Competence	131
Obsolete and "Uncomputerized" Systems	132
Theoretical Framework	133
Methodology and Sampling	134
Description of the Variables	134
Descriptive and Qualitative Data Analyses	135
Quantitative Data Analysis	138
Limitations of the Study	138
Discussion and Conclusion	138
Bibliography	140
Notes	145

Chapter 7 · A Note on Brain Drain and Its Net Gains: Aspects of the Civil/Public Service in Postcolonial Ghanaian Economy and Society	149
Introduction	149
Civil/Public Service Brain Drain: Old Roots, New Branches	150
Net Gains: Government Policies and the Paradox of Losing Civil/Public Servants	151
Maximizing Net Gains: Government Policies and Structures	152
Losing Civil/Public Servants yet Making a Difference: Remittance, Families, and Society	153
Revealing Experiences: Conscientizing, Activism, and Empowerment	154
Across the Landscape of Losses and Gains: Building Bureaucratic Bridges	155
Conclusion	156
Bibliography	157
Notes	157
Index	161

Series Editor's Preface

The Carolina Academic Press African World Series, inaugurated in 2010, offers significant new works in the field of African and Black World studies. The series provides scholarly and educational texts that can serve both as reference works and as readers in college classes.

Studies in the series are anchored in the existing humanistic and the social scientific traditions. Their goal, however, is the identification and elaboration of the strategic place of Africa and its Diaspora in a shifting global world. More specifically, the studies will address gaps and larger needs in the developing scholarship on Africa and the Black World.

The series intends to fill gaps in areas such as African politics, history, law, religion, culture, sociology, literature, philosophy, visual arts, art history, geography, language, health, and social welfare. Given the complex nature of Africa and its Diaspora, and the constantly shifting perspectives prompted by globalization, the series also meets a vital need for scholarship connecting knowledge with events and practices. Reflecting the fact that life in Africa continues to change, especially in the political arena, the series explores issues emanating from racial and ethnic identities, particularly those connected with the ongoing mobilization of ethnic minorities for inclusion and representation.

Toyin Falola
University of Texas at Austin

List of Figures

Figure 1.1	Constraints on Africa's Civil Service	9
Figure 2.1	Sub-Saharan Africa's CPI Ranking, 2007 and 2012	23
Figure 2.2	Africa's Most and Least Improved CPI, 2007 to 2012	26
Figure 3.1	Projects, Activities, and Funding Requirements (in Millions of CFAF): Setting Up of the Institutional Framework for Monitoring Decentralization	57
Figure 3.2	Projects, Activities, and Funding Requirements (in Millions of CFAF): Modernization of the General Legal Framework of Decentralization and Devolution	57
Figure 3.3	Projects, Activities, and Funding Requirements (in Millions of CFAF): Implementation and Establishment of the National Plan for Preparatory Development (NPPD)	58
Figure 3.4	Projects, Activities, and Funding Requirements (in Millions of CFAF): Training-Sensitization of Local Stakeholders	58
Figure 3.5	Projects, Activities, and Funding Requirements (in Millions of CFAF): Capacity Building Pilot Program for Councils	59
Figure 4.1	Nigerian Railway: Financial Results, 1912–1941 (£ Sterling)	88
Figure 6.1	Frequency of Responses on the Question of the Most Damaging Factors Affecting the Development of Cameroon	135

Notes on Contributors

Dr. Tokunbo Aderemi Ayoola teaches African history, African diaspora history, and international studies at Elizade University, Ilara-Mokin, Ondo State, Nigeria. He previously taught at The Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, USA; Tulane University, New Orleans, USA; Bexley College, Kent, England; and the Administrative Staff College of Nigeria (ASCON). His areas of specialization include African history, African diaspora history, transport, political economy, railway studies, development studies, and international business history. His scholarly writings have appeared in international journals and edited volumes.

Dr. Kwabena O. Akurang-Parry is a distinguished professor of Africana studies and world history and the director of the Nketia Center for Africana Studies at the African University College of Communications in Adabraka-Accra, Ghana. He is a product of four universities, namely Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology, Kumasi; Institute of African Studies, University of Ghana, Legon; Wilfrid Laurier University, Waterloo, Canada; and York University, Toronto, Canada, where he received his PhD in African history and comparative slavery as well as a post-graduate diploma in refugee and migration studies. Prof. Akurang-Parry is a prolific and globally recognized scholar with over fifty-five peer-reviewed articles in all the top-notch international Africana journals, for example, Slavery and Abolition, History in Africa, African Economic History, The International Journal of African Historical Studies, The International Journal of Regional and Local Studies, Left History, Transactions of the Historical Society of Ghana, and African Identities. He is the co-editor of African Agency and European Colonialism: Latitudes of Negotiation and Containment (University Press of America). Also he has four forthcoming books, including two co-edited volumes that deal with various fields of Africana studies. Prof. Akurang-Parry has collaborated and worked with some of the best Africana scholars of our time. He has held teaching and research positions at Tulane University, New Orleans, USA; York University, Toronto, Canada; Shippensburg

University, Pennsylvania, USA; and the University of Cape Coast, Ghana. He has won teaching awards and several grants. Prof. Akurang-Parry's research, scholarship, and public activism pose pioneering questions, chart new historical pathways, and apply pan-African activist traditions of inclusion and equality to deconstruct hegemonic perspectives that deemphasize the significant contributions of the peoples of African descent to the growth and development of the world.

Dr. Augustine E. Ayuk is associate professor of political science at Clayton State University. He has taught at Kennesaw State University and the University of West Georgia. His areas of interest include electoral politics in Africa, African political economy, African international relations, leadership, and political institutions in Africa. He has written and published peer-reviewed articles in the Proceedings of the Georgia Political Science Association, an online journal, and contributed a chapter in Contemporary Africa: Challenges and Opportunities. He has also contributed to a custom-edition textbook, We the People: Reflections on American Politics, at the University of West Georgia. He is currently working on two book chapters for publication, "The Roots of Political Stability and Instability in Cameroon" and "Football, Alcohol and Political Passivity and Cameroon." He has two journal articles in the pipeline for publication: "Western Union, Money Gram and Cell Phones: How Remittances Have Created a New and Ungrateful Breed in Africa," and "Bakassi: Africa's Diplomatic Success Story."

Dr. Mickie Mwanzia Koster is assistant professor of history in Africa and the African diaspora at the University of Texas in Tyler, Texas, in the United States. She has a BA in mathematics and information science from Chatham College, a MBA from Case Western Reserve University, a MA in history from Cleveland State University, and a MA and PhD in history from Rice University. She is the recipient of the Junior Scholar Excellence Award in African Studies awarded in 2015 by the University of Texas at Austin. She is the faculty advisor for the Phi Alpha Theta Historical Honor Society and the faculty advisor for the Graduate History Student Association. She was a recipient of the Wagoner Fellowship from Rice University in the United States. She regularly travels to Africa to conduct oral and archival research, and she frequently presents her research at conferences nationally and internationally. She has published in peer-reviewed journal articles, book chapters, dictionaries, encyclopedias, proceedings, and reviews treating liberation and nationalist movements in Kenya, Africa, and the African diaspora. Her forthcoming book, The Power of the Oath: Mau Mau Nationalism in Kenya, 1952–1960 examines nationalism, ethnicity, and gender by exploring ritual ceremonies and symbolisms used during the Mau Mau War.

Mwanzia Koster is also the co-editor of the 2014 book Hip Hop and Social Change in Africa: Ni Wakati.

Dr. Emmanuel M. Mbah is associate professor of history and director of Africa and African diaspora studies at the City University of New York, College of Staten Island. His research focuses on colonial and postcolonial African conflict, identity, and ethnicity as well as the place of Africa in transatlantic and global interconnections. Dr. Mbah's publications include, amongst others, the following: Contemporary Africa: Challenges and Opportunities, (New York: Palgrave, 2014, edited with Toyin Falola); Intellectual Agent, Mediator and Interlocutor: A. B. Assensoh and African Politics in Transition, (Cambridge: Cambridge Scholars Publishing, 2014, edited with Toyin Falola); Globalization and the African Experience, (Durham, NC: Carolina Academic Press, 2012, edited with Steven J. Salm); "Disruptive Colonial Boundaries and Attempts to Resolve Land/Boundary Disputes in the Grasslands of Bamenda, Cameroon" (in African Journal on Conflict Resolution, Vol. 9, # 3, November 2009); Land/Boundary Conflict in Africa: The Case of Former British Colonial Bamenda, Present-Day North-West Province of the Republic of Cameroon, 1916–1996 (The Edwin Mellen Press, 2008); and numerous articles in anthologies and edited volumes.

Dr. Wanjala S. Nasong'o is Stanley J. Buckman Professor of International Studies and chair of the Department of International Studies at Rhodes College, Memphis, Tennessee. He received his PhD in public and international affairs from Northeastern University, Boston. Prof. Nasong'o has previously taught at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville; University of Nairobi, Kenya; and Kenyatta University, Kenya. Author and editor of numerous books and journal articles, Prof. Nasong'o is recipient of the 2012 Rhodes College's Clarence Day Award for Outstanding Research and Creative Activity.

Dr. Consoler Teboh is a tenure-track assistant professor of social work at Saint Cloud State University, Minnesota. His professional background includes hospital social work, mental health, aging, and community outreach. His research interests are women's reproductive health, community development, immigrant and refugee issues, and marginalized and disadvantaged persons, especially those affected by ineffective African governments. Dr. Teboh has published scholarly articles in peer-refereed journals and book chapters. In 2015 he published two chapters, namely: "Newcomer Adjustment and Integration: A Cultural Diplomacy Perspective" and "Unmasking the Hidden Identity of Elderly African Immigrants in the USA" (ed.) by Linus Learning: Ronkonkoma, NY. Additionally, he published "Innovative Teaching in Social Work Education: A Collaborative Learning Technique" with the International Journal of Education and Social Science, Vol. 2, No. 4., Issue number 2410-5171.

Dr. Teboh continues to present papers at national as well as international conferences.

Acknowledgments

This book was originally conceived by Emmanuel in 2009 after research trips to the National Archives in London, United Kingdom, and the National Archives of Cameroon in Buea and Bamenda. The fact that it took so long to get to this stage emphasizes the importance we attached to the volume through diligence, but also the complexities of editing books.

This project has been possible because of the enthusiasm and support of many individuals along the way. We thank the contributors for their thought-provoking essays, but also for their patience and steadfastness throughout the editorial process. We wish to extend our gratitude to CUNY Staten Island and Clayton State University, for providing us with office space and resources that enabled completion of the book. Emmanuel would like to thank his kids, Therese and Ryan, for their love and for giving him space to work on the book. Augustine would like to dedicate this book with gratitude to his wife, Esther, and their children, for their understanding and support for the time away to focus on this volume. We humbly accept all flaws in the book.

Emmanuel M. Mbah and Augustine E. Ayuk
Staten Island and Smyrna, Georgia
January 5, 2016

